Lucy lived in the Midwest in a small apartment with her mom and little brother, Isaiah. Kansas City was hot and humid in the summer. People were always looking for ways to stay cool!

When Lucy was eight years old, she wanted to take dance lessons. She truly loved dance and danced wherever she went, at home, at school, and at the grocery store too! One day Lucy asked her mom if she could take dance lessons. Lucy's mom wanted to help, but money was tight. Her mom told Lucy that if Lucy could earn half of the money, that she would pay the other half.

Lucy made a list of all of the ways she could earn extra money but decided that setting up a lemonade stand was her favorite idea. Lucy's mom helped her buy all of the supplies she needed, like lemons, sugar, and cups. Lucy worked at the lemonade stand every weekend for three months. By the end of summer, she had enough money to take dance lessons!
